

Bruce Wands

Michael Lutz

“Floating Plot Zora” 1992

“Floating Plot Zora” is a computer animation that deals with the relationship of art and media, that are both based on concrete mathematics. By animating the created pictures from Mondrian, Albers, Lohse and a wiring plot of a computer chip the creative process in finding an artwork is furthermore obviously reflected.